

CREATING HEALTHY WORK ENVIRONMENTS

WHERE NURSING'S MOST ADVANCED MINDS AND MOST INFLUENTIAL LEADERS CONVERGE

Sigma's Creating Healthy Work Environments (CHWE) conference brings together one of the most academically advanced and organizationally influential audiences in nursing: nurse leaders who are actively shaping the future of healthcare workplaces.

WHY SPONSOR WITH US?

- Direct access to 400 decision-makers, innovators and future scholars
- Nearly 80% Master's- and Doctorate-prepared professionals from colleges, universities, medical centers, and community hospitals.
- Approximately 1/3 of our attendees are in administrative roles who shape budgets, programs, and institutional priorities.
- 16% Baccalaureate-prepared nurses represent the next wave of graduate school applicants.

CHWE ATTENDEES: THE PROFESSIONALS INFLUENCING THE ADOPTION OF YOUR SOLUTIONS

CLEAR ACCESS: Connect directly with academic and clinical leaders who influence budgets, programs, and strategic priorities.

UNIVERSITY FOCUS: Campus professionals are the #1 attendee group, making CHWE an exceptional venue for connecting with faculty, program directors, researchers, and education strategists.

MAJOR HEALTH SYSTEM CONNECTIONS:

University medical center attendees bring perspectives from large-scale, complex healthcare environments, ideal for vendors offering enterprise-level workforce, education, technology, or leadership-development solutions. Community hospital attendees represent leaders working to implement healthy work environment strategies across diverse clinical and organizational contexts.

STRATEGIC ALIGNMENT: Institutions are actively seeking tools, partnerships, and programs that improve psychological safety, retention, well-being, leadership capacity, and clinical education pathways.

NEXT-GENERATION WORKFORCE: Current students (7%) offer long-term recruitment potential and early brand loyalty opportunities.

Sponsor or exhibit at Creating Healthy Work Environments 20-22 March 2026.
Submit your application by 6 March.

READY TO IMPLEMENT: Administrative leaders and faculty attendees often arrive with budget authority or direct influence over purchasing, professional development programming, and institutional change initiatives.

Ideal for exhibitors and sponsors offering:

- Workforce and staffing solutions
- Leadership development programs
- Clinical education platforms
- Graduate education pathways
- Technology that supports healthy work environments
- Organizational culture and well-being tools
- Academic partnerships and collaborations
- CHWE Attendees: Ideal Candidates for Advanced Education Programs

POWERFUL DECISION-MAKERS: Doctorally prepared attendees often serve as faculty, researchers, managers, and clinical leaders, shaping academic and professional development pathways within their organizations.

COMMITMENT TO LIFELONG LEARNING: CHWE attendees consistently seek new credentials, certifications, fellowships, and academic partnerships that advance their careers.

PURPOSEFUL AND FOCUSED: CHWE's intimate size offers more meaningful conversations and higher-quality leads than large, generalized conferences.
